Description

economical disposable compactor sacks

made using heavy-duty recycled polyethylene, the sacks are large, strong and resistant to stretching, tearing and piercing – just what you need for heavy or awkward loads.

the durability means they're a great option for applications where standard refuse sacks simply can't offer the strength you need.

among other sectors, compactor sacks are a firm favourite with pub and restaurant businesses, and the hospitality industry in general.

- A reliable way of dealing with heavier loads and industrial and waste
- Suit both domestic and commercial applications
- Made using recycled materials
